

PROBLEM STATEMENTS

- The webcams must be able to recognize the motion gestures which are already trained to the machine.
- The user must be able to access the application from anywhere and whenever it's needed.
- The user must be able to upload images of various sizes and able to blur, resize and the images must be rotated respectively.
- This tool must be able to interact with humans and able to understand the symbols.
- In order to replicate the skills in computer, the user must be able to separate objects of interest in image, capture technology and classification technique are more appropriate among others.
- The machine must be capable of performing several operations at the same time without any interruptions.
- The user must be able to use this technology anywhere, anytime and at any condition,